K. OF C. CELEBRATE ON COLUMBUS DAY

COUNCIL AT CONCEPTION WILL OBSERVE NEXT SUNDAY

BASKET DINNER PLANNED

Baseball Game In Afternoon; Speeches On Program, too; All Good Americans Invited

"To honor our Christian hero, to extol his praise in expressions of gratitude, to voice his glory in the glories of our country, the Knights of Columbus of the Conception Council 1931 have decided to arrange for the celebration of Columbus Day, Sunday, Oct. 12th," says the Conception Courier.

"At 1 o'clock (new time) a basket dinner 'La Mode Fraternitate' will be served at the grove in front of the Conception Abbey (in case the weather is inclement at the Parish Hall). After this dinner a speaking program will be given in the hall. Mr. McKenna of Kansas City and Rev. Father Lawrence Villiag of Conception Abbey having been engaged.

"Mr. McKenna enjoys a great reputation as a speaker for both exceptional eloquence and depth of thought. He is a great worker in both the orders of the K. of C. and the C. O. of F., and will not only pleace you, but will offer you many good points of valuable information.

"Rev. Father Lawrence is one of the best speakers of the Abbey, whose eloquence, clearness of expression and forceful logic needs not to be commented on, for the people of this vicinity have long learned to appreciate it and delight in hearing him. If you are among those who enjoy a good talk do not fail to be present October 12th.

"Lehman's orchestra will furnish the music.

"At 3 o'clock will be Vesper services at the Abbey church, after which a game of baseball will be played between a picked team of K. of C's and the Regulars of the College. The teams will be evenly matched and a good game is expected. The batteries will in all probability be Meyers and Cordes for the College and Buehler and Tobin of Maryville for the K. of C's.

"It has been decided that the regular admission price will be charged for this game and to let the teams play for the purse as they may agree upon, which will make the game all the more fought for.

"Do not forget next Sunday, but come, bring a well filled basket and enjoy yourself. Everybody welcome; at least all good American citizens."

MASONS PREPARE TO BUILD A NEW STORE AT QUITMAN

Upper Floor Will Be Occupied by the Lodge; Town's Business Picking Up All Along

The Masons are preparing to build a 45x60 foot store room at Quitman. It will be a frame, faced with brick, and will be located just south of the postoffice. The lower floor will be occupied by a store, the upper floor by the lodge. The correspondent of the Burlington Junction Post had the following: "The old buildings here are entirely inadequate to house the business of the town, which has been increased wonderfully in the last few years. The lumber yard is an instance. When J. O. Miller took hold of it, it contained only samples and hardly paid expenses. With a good stock of everything it has more than quadrupled its sales and would be better if properly housed and a still more varied stock of stuff kept. This is a good shipping point and can be made a good trading point if the 'Sleepy Hollow' folks will wake up and do some hustling."

Dr. J. W. Dean and family, who moved from Burlington Junction to Niwot, Colo., last year, have gone to Los Angeles, Calif., to spent the winter, making the trip out in their car. They expect to return to Longmont, Colo., to live next summer.—Burlington Junction Post.

IN BUSINESS HERE FORTY-SIX YEARS

NEXT OLDEST MERCHANT

Started as Clerk in 1873 With Lieber & Michau; In Dry Goods Stores Continuously

D. R. Eversole, one of Maryville's veteran business men, will celebrate with a sale next week the forty-sixth anniversary of his entrance into business in Maryville. Starting as a clerk in 1873, he has been part owner and owner of dry goods stores in Maryville for the last forty years. In that time he has been located in four different buildings in Maryville, and has had clerks innumerable, some of whom have risen to places of eminence in the business world.

Mr. Eversole, who is a native of Canton, Ohio, came to Missouri in 1870, settling in Savannah, Andrew county. After living a short time in Holt county, he came to Maryville in 1872. The following year he started work as a clerk for the Lieber & Michau dry goods store conducted by John Lieber and Lavencour Michau in the old Michau building, Fourth and Main streets. At that tim ethe Michau building was a one-story frame building in front, with a one-story brick building with a basement in the rear. The Lieber and Michau firm had been in business for some time before Mr. Eversole started work.

Clerked Six Years and a Half.

Mr. Eversole was with the store in the Michau building ten years—six years and a half as a clerk and three years and a half as a partner of Mr. Lieber, under the firm name of John Lieber & Company.

In 1882 the firm moved into the Holmes building where the Montgomery shoe store now is. In July, 1884, Mr. Lieber sold his interest to F. M. Petty, with whom Mr. Eversole remained in business a year and a half.

The next change was on January 1, 1886, when Mr Eversole went into partnership with Augustus Romasser, under the firm name of Eversole & Romasser, and started business in the building on the north side of the square now occupied by the Wray Hardware Company. The firm bought out E. H. Hulburt.

Took In His Employes.

For nine years the same firm continued in business. Then Mr. Eversole bought Mr. Romasser's interest and ran the business under his own name, assocating with him as partners Miss Nettie Moore and Miss Zoe Russell, two of his most faithful employes. Miss Moore, who is now dead, spent twenty years with the store, while Miss Russell, who is now with the Denver Dry Goods Company of Denver, Colo., was in its employment eighteen years.

The store has been in its present location in the Orear building for nineteen years, moving there on September 15, 1900. Fifteen years ago last January, Mr. Eversole associated with himself in the store his son, Ralph, and since then the firm has done business under its present name of D. R. Eversole & Son.

Not the Oldest Merchant, But—

Mr. Eversole says there is one merchant in Maryville who has been in business longer than he has, but he is not telling the man's name, for he is using it as a part of a contest in connection with the sale next week.

Mr. Eversole keeps a diary and a record of all his employes. Among several who have made good elsewhere is Roy Otis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Otis, formerly of Maryville, who started clerking for Mr. Eversole in 1904 and who now is manager of the well-known J. C. Penny store in New York City.

RETURNED SAILOR HAS DATA ON HIS SHIP, THE LEVIATHAN

Howard Watson Has Figures on Display, With a Picture of the World's Largest Vessel

Howard Watson, who recently returned from service in the United States navy, having received his discharge, has on display in the window of the Bee Hive shoe store a picture of the U. S. S. Leviathan, formerly the Vaterland of the Hamburg-American line, on which he served for a time. The Vaterland, which is the largest passenger ship in the world, was engaged in army transport.

The Leviathan, which is of 69,000 tons and is 958 feet long, measures 187 feet from the keel to the top of the stacks, of which she has three. When loaded, she draws 42 feet at the bow and 46 feet at the stern. She embarks from New York at high tide only. Her anchor weighs 14 tons, and a single link of the anchor chain weighs 325 pounds. She has four propellers and can make 23 knots.

The ship makes the trip to France in seven days. She coals with 8,000 tons on leaving New York. She burns 8 tons a day while in port, and from 790 to 1,000 tons a day while on a voyage. This is 200 tons more than the Maryville schools use in a year. She has 46 boilers.

She has carried as many as 18,200 men—16,000 soldiers and 2,200 members of the crew. She has 1,000 state rooms. An engineering force of 400 is kept constantly on duty.

MIX-UP IN A CAR STEALING AFFAIR

W. I. GRAY OF RAVENWOOD LOCATES FORD HE LOST

BUT HE CAN'T GET IT

The car of W. I. Gray, which was stolen the night of October 1 from his garage at Ravenwood was identified by Mr. Gray at the home of Roy Lindsey at Gilman City Monday. But Mr. Gray was unable to get his car, as Sheriff Arch Blair of Daviess County appeared on the scene and was going to arrest Mr. Gray for having a stolen car in his possession. Mr. Gray was not arrested, but Sheriff Blair took the car to Gallatin with him.

Mr. Gray, accompanied by Sheriff John F. Dowden, went to Gallatin yesterday to see Sheriff Blair. Blair refused to tell them where the car was, and Gray intends to get out a replevin suit against the sheriff to recover possession of his car.

Mr. Lindsey, who had purchased the Gray car, said he paid $200 in money and gave a check for $400 for the car. When he discovered it was a stolen car, he stopped payment on the check.

Mr. Gray had had his car just a short time before it was stolen, having driven some eighteen miles. It was thought this car was in Darlington a week ago last Thursday, there being two men in the party. On that same night, a Buick Six was taken from Darlington, and also at Gilman City. The Gray's Ford being sold to Lindsey there.

The parties having the car at Darlington went under the names of C. Hammond and John Wilson of O'Neal, Nebr., according to W. W. Nichols and G. W. Groom of Darlington, who are in Maryville today in connection with this case.

HER FAMILY SCATTERED, SHE WILL WORK IN ORPHANS' HOME

Mrs. Flora Quinn Leaves Maryville for St. Louis Until Daughter Completes Nursing Course

Her family being scattered, Mrs. Flora Quinn of Maryville left this morning for St. Louis, where she will be a "house mother" for twenty or thirty of the older girls at the Baptist Orphans Home. There are about 260 children in the home. Those Mrs. Quinn will have under her care will take care of the place and do the mending.

Mrs. Quinn, who has made her home in Maryville continuously for more than fifteen years, living at 221 West Jenkins street, will be particularly missed in the Baptist church, in which she has been a willing worker. Her son, Orlo, is still an aviator in the government service at San Diego, Cal., and her daughter Ora is studying nursing at Fort McPherson, Ga., and may later go to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. Her course will last two years longer, and until that time, at least, her mother will do the work at the orphans home.

BEN O'BANION WILL GET $150 AS RESULT OF DAMAGE CASE

Jury Decides for Plaintiff in Suit for $2,500; Court Adjourns Today Until Monday

Ben O'Banion plaintiff in the suit for damages tried yesterday, in which William O'Banion and others were defendants received a judgment of $75 actual and $75 punitive damages from the jury, which spent about an hour deliberating the case yesterday evening. He asked for $2,500 because he was ejected from a house he was occupying. Charles O'Banion and Deputy Sheriff Gabe Purcell were the other defendants, the latter because he was called in as arbitrator. Ellis G. Cook was the attorney for the plaintiff; W. G. Sawyers, for the defendants. The case occupied most of the court's time yesterday.

A few other things were attended to, however. In the case of Clarence Baker vs. Lewis Anderson, for ejectment, Judge John M. Dawson disqualified himself because he had previously served as counsel in the case. No judge has yet been named to try it.

The divorce suit of Ernest Riley vs. Dora Riley was continued for want of service in time. The same thing happened to the divorce suit of Bessie White vs. Clifford White. Bessie McKee, who is seeking a divorce from George McKee filed a motion for temporary alimony.

In the suit of M. P. Headlee vs. Thomas Cain, on a note, Judge Dawson was disqualified and the parties agreed on G. R. Ellison as a special judge.

The damage suit of Ed Allen vs the Chicago Great Western Railway was settled and dismissed, the costs being paid. The suit of S. B. Williams vs. Edgar J. Rhoads, on account, was continued. The damage suit of Ed Archer vs. the Chicago Great Western Railway was continued by agreement. The damage suit of Joe Fogan vs. the Burlington was continued. The damage suit of Howard Thompson vs. William Ramey was continued by agreement.

The order of continuance in the damage suit of Nellie Griffith vs. Baxter Griffith was set aside, the plaintiff dismissing the suit. E. C. Utter's suit on a note vs. James T. Wells was continued. The plaintiffs dismissed the damage suit of DeWitt & Jeffers vs. Robert E. Snodgrass. The suit of John Allen vs. O. H. Anderson, on a note, was continued by agreement.

The criminal docket for this term of circuit court already considerably reduced, was reduced still more yesterday when two of the cases yet remaining untouched were stricken from the docket. That of the state vs. Clint Hewett, on a charge of grand larceny, which was expected to come up for agreement, was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting attorney, the defendant agreeing to pay the expenses and mileage of the defendant's witnesses.

A nolle pros was entered also in the case of the state vs. Elmer A Hunter, on a charge of assault and battery, with a judgment against the prosecuting witness, Orville Repley, for costs.

A judgment against the prosecuting witness, William F. Potts, for costs was entered yesterday on the record of the case of the state vs. Fred Davis, for assault and battery, which was stricken from the docket early in the session of court.

Circuit court adjourned today until Monday. The petit jury was discharged until that time. The case of Frank Grundel against W. V. Cooper and C. Cooper, a replevin suit, is set for Monday.

Spanks Wife for Flirting; Fined $5

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 9.—For spanking one's wife for flirting with an American officer, $5 or one month's imprisonment. Ernest Cousins learned the legal rate for turning wives across chairs and administering a hard spanking with an open hand after he had received this letter for his wife: "I met an American officer, who was awfully interesting. There are hundreds in Cardiff; more than British. They are fine, smart boys." The Court's sympathies were with the girl wife and Cousins had to pay.

WON'T CUT TAXES AT THIS SESSION

G. O. P. CONGRESS WILL NOT REDEEM CAMPAIGN PLEDGES

TARIFF STANDS AS IT IS

Senator Penrose Makes Declaration and He is Credited With Being the Republican Boss

Washington, Oct. 10. — Despite its campaign pledges in 1918, which were reiterated after the election and at the opening of the special session of congress on May 19, the Republican party will not attempt to revise the tariff or repeal any of the existing revenue or tax laws at this session of congress. Senator Penrose says so, and he is credited with being the "boss" of the G. O. P. Moreover, according to Senator Penrose, it is no likely any attempts along tariff and revenue lines will be made until after the presidential election.

This announcement on the part of the "boss" comes as a surprise to many Republican members of the House of Representatives, who have been boasting for some time about the value of the "popgun" tariff bills passed by them at the special session But as the senate finance committee, of which Mr. Penrose is the chairman, will probably decline to approve any of these bills, there is little likelihood of anything being done with them

On May 10, nine days before the special session of congress opened Senator Penrose announced this Republican legislative program:

Repeal of the luxury taxes, installation of a budget system, simplification of the tax laws, reduction of taxation of individuals, investigation of war expenditures and the repeal of all powers granted for price fixing and other forms of interference with legitimate business."

Senator Penrose Said This.

And this is what Senator Penrose said on Sept. 27, as reported by the Indianapolis News:

"It is not likely that the question of general tariff revision will come up until after the next presidential election. The world is still upset and commercial and industrial conditions are so disturbed and involved that it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to make proper tariff schedules. The state of foreign exchange renders international trade difficult, and in cases, impossible. Foreign countries are adopting embargoes on other import regulations by licenses and otherwise for their own particular advantage.

"An effort has been made to secure the passage of a few so-called 'popgun' tariff bills through the house of representatives, and these bills are now pending in the senate finance committee. Generally speaking, the members of the committee are not enthusiastic concerning this kind of piecemeal legislation. There is a bill to impose duties on laboratory glass, porcelain ware, optical glass and scientific instruments, another bill to provide a duty on tungsten ores, still another for a duty on zinc ores and finally a bill to impose a duty on pearl shells.

Bills Would Fail of Purpose.

"In a case of a general invasion of the American market by a revival of international trade, these bills would fail of their purpose because the industry of the country would be prostrated and the market for these articles would cease for the time being. In some cases these bills fail to pay any attention to the necessity of compensatory duties on articles connected with the production of these manufactured and raw materials.

"There are also a number of amendments to the revenue act repealing certain taxes. Should these bills, already passed by the house, be accepted by the senate, doubtless a flock of similar amendments would come along for the elimination of other taxes. Several million dollars would be swept aside in a very short time. These bills will be examined very carefully by the committee before final action is taken."

Senator Penrose's phrase, "generally speaking, the members of the committee are not enthusiastic concerning this kind of piecemeal legislation," has caused some amusement at the capitol. The reason is that the senate finance committee has held one meeting since the special session opened. At that time some men from the west protested against a tax on loganberry juice. This consumed a few hours and no meeting has been held since.

The Penrose criticism of the house tariff bills as showing carelessness and lack of skill on the part of the house Republican leaders, is far from pleasing to them, it is asserted. Democratic leaders of the house made the same objections to the "popgun" bills when they were under consideration in the lower body.

British Clergymen May Strike.

London, Oct. 9.—England, having survived strike after strike, has now to face disaster from another quarter. The clergy are threatening to "go out." They are agitating for a 'trade' union of their own and are determined to get it. If they don't—the unthinkable will happen. A coal miner earns more in a week than some clergymen earn in a month. It is proposed that all livings should be pooled and that unbeneficial clergy should have a minimum wage of $1,200 yearly.

Would Rechristen 'German Trout'

Gunnison, Col., Oct. 9.—Disciples of Ike Walton have launched a movement here to change the name of the "German brown trout" to the "Yankee brown trout." When a State newspaper paid a prize to the nimrod catching the largest trout in this vicinity the letter enclosing the check stated their one regret in making the payment was that it was a "German" trout that won the prize.

How do you get your washings done?

It is one of the most perplexing housekeeping problems. It has become almost impossibe to hire the help to do the washing at home or to find anyone to send it to.

In some cities help demands two meals and $4 for doing a small washing, and right in Maryville a comparatively small wash has been known to cost over $5.

That would soon pay for an electric washer, and a large washing can be done at home in a morning hour, getting it out of the way early and taking the real hard work out of it. If you have to do your own washing the electric washer is almost indispensible, and it will save your health and strength enough to pay for it even if it cost ten times what it does. If you have help you will be able to get them to do washings with an electric that they would not care to try to do in the old fashioned way.

A Forty-Sixth Anniversary Sale

MONDAY, October 13th marks the 46th anniversary or the business career of the senior member of the firm of D. R. Eversole & Son in Maryville. We feel that 46 cotinuous years in business in one community is a record worthy of a real celebration, and we are going to celebrate by giving our customers-both old and new the benefit of a bargain event seldom equaled even in all the 46 years that we have been identified with the mercantile interests of Northwest Missouri.

We attribute our success as shown by this forty-six years record to our constant effort to please our customers and to give them good goods at the lowest possible prices. That we have done so is evidenced by the increase in our trade from year to year and the new friends we are making added to that most gratifying thing of all-the staunch loyalty of our old friends.

We appreciate every one of our customers more than we are able to express on paper, but we are going to try to express it in a more substantial way by the offering of real bargains—something that is hard to do at this time of imflation, but we have bent every effort to do this in the real spirit of celebration that this 46th anniversary warrants.

This sale will start Monday morning, October 13th, and ends Saturday night of the same week. In some instances the merchandise offered is limited in quantity and we urge early purchases for this reason. We cannot promise that we will have all the goods we advertise at the later part of the week.

NOW comes the Fall Season, the first Autumn of Peace, and with it the desire to be well dressed, in keeping with the general prosperity of the land.

Never before has it been so necessary to buy good, serviceable clothing that has Style, for the trend of price is upward, and the woman who equips herself today is laying by savings for the future.

It is a time to purchase clothing of recognized value from merchants of recognized integrity, and we are proud to be numbered among these of that class.

And so, in announcing our fall fashion display, we want you to come fully convinced that the merchandise you will see is the kind you should buy, the kind that will make your dollars stretch their furthest limit.

The new garments for fall are more beautiful by comparison than in past seasons. They are more ornately designed, more richly embellished. Whether suits or coats or gowns, you will instantly recognize the difference.

Now as to prices—and every woman is interested in this. Good merchandise never was cheap. Good materials, good workmanship, good designing—they never were low in price.

Consequently, if you want the right kind of goods—the kind that is always lower-priced, in the end, you will not find prices at all extraordinary. It is the cheap goods that have soared until they are of still less value today than they ever were before.

We present these facts for your consideration. It is our duty, as merchants who are striving to retain and add to the patronage that brings us success.

The New Styles

Cloth Coats—Backs are both loose and belted. Most loose coats made with belt that can be worn inside or outside. Average length, 48 inches.

Fur Fabric Coatees—30 to 36 long, loose and flowing. Style determined by fur coats, which often present the modified Dolman type.

Suits—tendency is toward trimmed garments, although tailored type is much worn. A bloused style with vest and high buttoned collar is also good.

Dresses—Both straight line and draped gowns are shown, often the style developing in the panels and trimming. The variety is wide.

Staple plushes—the large sleeve is the feature of these garments; oval effect predominates, although straight lines are good.

G. O. P. WILL HOLD A HOUSE CAUCUS

PROBABLY WILL DECIDE TO DO NOTHING, AS USUAL

MAY PUT MONDELL OUT

Insurrection Is Planned; Some Disappointed Because of Lack of Action in Congress

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Republican members of the House of Representatives are to hold another caucus on Nov. 10 to determine what they are to do legislatively—if anything—during the remainder of the special session. The five weeks' interval, it is hoped, wil furnish some suggestions to be presented at the meeting that cai be agreed upon by all factions, and which will have the approval of the party leaders in the Senate.

At that time, if their courage holds out, the insurrectos who desire the overthrow of Frank W. Mondell, party floor leader, will attempt that apparnetly impossible task. They are expected to point out that little legislative work has been accomplished, and most of that, recommendations of the president; that much of the tariff and revenue legislation passed by the house after many months travail is held up in the senate, and according to Senator Boies Penrose, "boss" of the G. O. P., will continue to be until 1921. The rebellious ones are likely to urge that the house floor le ader should be in touch with the senate chieftains so that time need not be wasted on impossible legislation, and that party boasts of achievements may have a chance of coming true.

May Discuss Railroads.

Present caucus plans, according to gossip of Republicans, contemplate a discussion of what to do with the railroads, involving a rehash of the Plumb, Esch and Cummins plans, and then a decision to do nothing at this session, despite the president's warning that he intended turning back the roads to their owners by the first of the new year. President Wilson has repeatedly asked for legislation permitting this return and protecting the public and the railroads, but all indications point to no action by either senate or house.

If any real, beneficial soldiers' legislation gets through the house this session it will be considered a miracle by most of the members. Floor Leader Mondell is still attempting to whip his party colleagues into line for the kidnapped Mondell-Smoot soldiers land bill, but his following is almost nil. The meeting of the American Legion at Minneapolis, from which so much is hoped for in the way of suggestions, will not take place until next month. Meanwhile the house must "stall," but this has ceased to be a novelty in the last five months.

Letters Come From Soldiers.

There are few if any congressmen whose daily mail is not filled with letters from soldiers and sailors asking for appropriations or other legislation that will assist them in their restart in civil life with a better chance than when they took up arms for their country. Many of these letters are requests for cash bonuses, some of the writers telling of immediate and pressing debts that they desire to sponge off the slate, and intimating strongly that they expect the government to act quickly so that they liquidate promptly. The American Legion has, in a way, declared against any cash bonus plan, but has made no specific recommendations. This may be done at the forthcoming Minneapolis meeting and that is what the Republican majority in the house is awaiting.

As Senator Penrose has termed the "popgun" tariff bills passed by the house "piecemeal legislation" which "in some cases fail to pay any attention to the necessity of compensatory duties on articles connected with the production of these manufactured and raw materials", not to mention other unkind remarks, the Republican congressmen are asking whether they are to continue to be made the targets for the shafts of ridicule hurled by the Republican chairman of the senate finance committee.

Nothing Much to Do.

As time already has hung so heavily on the hands of the house that a five weeks' recess was stopped only by the president of the Unittd States, the Republicans are asking what they are to do since the passage of the "popgun" tariff bills is practically interdicted by the big "boss." This will probably cause a revival of the plan for an adjournment from as soon as possible in November after the caucus until the opening of the regular sesion in December.

There is one new Republican congressman who has discovered what he is in Washington for. He told a Democrati ccolleague.

"I'm here to help make a quorum," said he.

RAILROAD MAN WINS HIS FIGHT

Was On Verge of Giving Up Run — Tanlac Keeps Him On the Job

"I put up a game fight to keep my run on the railroad, because bad health was just about to make me give it up but with the help of Tanlac, I am still on the job, feeling like a new man and with m. re endurance than I ever had," said F. C. Stewart, of the Rock Island Railroad, who lives at 810 North Glendale, Peoria, Ill.

"When a man has been on the railroad for eighteen years like I have working long hours and eating irregular meals and just snatching sleep like I had to, it's bound to tear down his constitution, and that is what happened to me. My stomach got in such a shape that the food in the restaurants along my run made me sick to look at, and what little I could force myself to eat didn't taste right and would lay like a rock in my stomach. This sort of thing began to break down my health ten years ago, and nothing but pure grit kept me going. My strength wore away and I fell off in weight until it just seemed like I couldn't take out many more trains. Then I began to hear some of the boys talking about this Tanlac, and I knew it couldn't make me any worse than I was, so I started taking it.

"Right there is where I side-tracked my troubles and hit the main line to good health again. The first few doses made me want to eat, and after I had been taking Tanlac a while, I found that I could swing off by train and snatch a lunch in a hurry, and it did not matter how much it was cooked or what it was, it went right to the spot and did me good. I can eat just anything I want; the only trouble now is getting enough to satisfy me. My sleep is restful—I can go to bed at night and unless the call boy comes it takes several good loud raps on the door to get me up. Then when I start out on the run I feel strong and full of energy as I ever did in my life, and can do more work than I ever could. I have told several of the boys how this Tanlac has helped me, for I know how hard it is for a railroad man to keep going, and I want them to know how to keep fit."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Coster Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, in Arkoe by Rufus R. Smith, in Hopkins by Hopkins Drugs Co., and in Parnell by F. L. Hart." ADV.

SUGAR RELIEF BY NOV. 1, GROCERS' MEETING CONCLUDES

Beet Product Will Be Ready Within a Week or So, Dealers Believe

The sugar shortage as "about" over, according to statements made by several local sugar dealers and members of the Missouri and Kansas Wholesale Grocers' Association, who met in Kansas City yesterday afternoon to discuss the sugar situation.

Although there was a difference of opinion as to the length of time before the danger of a sugar famine would be passed, the majority of the grocers agreed that by November 1, the supply would be large enough to meet all "moderate" demands.

Several of the dealers expressed the opinion that next week would see the situation much relieved. The sugar beet crop has been harvested in Colorado and Utah and the beets are now being "sliced," so that the new sugar would begin coming into the markets next week, one sugar dealer pointed out.

All agreed that every one must economize in the use of sugar for the next few weeks as it will be a week or two after the first of the new sugar is shipped to the markets before it can be distributed evenly among all the merchants. Unless economy prevails there is danger of many housewives having to go without sugar, as they have in the last few weeks.

St. Louis Has Fire Prevention Day.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—St. Louis today, filled with enthusiasm aroused during "Fire Prevention Day" yesterday, was cleaning up fire hazards, following out the program of "fire don'ts" published by the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. The day was observed with public exhibitions by the fire department, fire prevention slides hhown at motion picture houses, and a luncheon by the Chamber of Commerce, during which State Insurance Commissioner Fred L. Harty declared that Missouri's fire loss during 1918 was $1,000,000 monthly. The total loss for 1918, he said was $3.50 per capita, which was somewhat in excess of that of the remainder of the United States.

They Will Find Trouble.

London, Oct. 9.—Many ex-soldiers, unable to settle down to a quiet life after the bustle and adventure of the army, have found a profession open to them in which they can have as many thrills as they desire. They are enlisting in the Royal Irish Constabulary. Upon joining they are instructed in police duties, drill musketry and elementary law at the head depot of the force in Phoenix Park, Dublin, before being sent to do duty in the country.

G. O. P. OF MISSOURI REFUSES TO CONDEMN TREATY OF PEACE

State Committee, However, Instructs Senator Spencer to Back Amendments; Members in a Tiff

St. Louis, Oct., 10.—The proposal to call a state convention for the purpose of having the Republicans of Missouri go on record as opposed to ratification of the peace treaty and the league of nations, was defeated at a meeting of the Republican State Committee in the Planters Hotel yesterday. At the same time a resolution was adopted directing Senator Spencer to align himself with the majority of the Senate Foreign Relations committee as opposed to ratification without amendments and to vote for all amendments proposed in the Senate.

The vote on each resolution was 40 to 8. Mrs. H. H. McClure and Mrs. Charles Braley of Kansas City, both voted for the second resolution.

John Schmoll, chairman of the city committee, read the resolution directing Spencer to vote for amendments to the treaty. Joe Black of Richmond, immediately demanded a roll call. Paul S. Conwell offered the resolution condemming any league. Its adoption was seconded by Black.

A tilt between committeemen took place, during which Conwell charged certain delegates with "pussyfooting for the sake of a few postoffices next year." He declared that no one knew where the Republican party stood and that the nation was waiting for some party "to lead it back under the Stars and Stripes."

Schmoll opposed the stand taken by Conwell, declaring "I'm a better American than Conwell."

Conwell retorted that "It was not so. I enlisted in the army."

The Bridge Situation.

Judge Dick Bailey was in Elmo Monday, having come out to measure a bridge site west of town.

He continues to give a gloomy picture of the bridge situation in the county—the lack of funds, the lack of labor and material—all combining to make the situation one of extreme difficulty.

What the outcome may be no one can tell, but it might be well to vote an issue of bonds to be used for county bridges only, and thus catch up with the needs of the county. After that perhaps we could keep up.—Elmo Register.

THE STORE THAT IS ANXIOUS TO PLEASE YOU.

Running a Household Is a Business

Is yours run on business principles?

Wise buying is the first setp to success in any business. So is it the first requirement for a household to be well conducted on an economical basis. Big business concerns have purchasing agents who are experts in knowing what, when and where to buy. They study goods and concerns which have goods to sell. They watch the markets. They read carefully the advertisements of concerns in their particular lines.

The manager of a household must be purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. She should be familiar with stores and merchandise. She should run her business on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read advertisements.

Advertising today is the voice of business. Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise; they reveal improvements and inventions; they give you information about things that are useful and interesting.

Every manager of a household—every person in the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare—should make a practice of reading advertisements.

British Women Soldiers Recalled.

London, Oct. 9.—A number of Britain's famous women soldiers, affectionately known as "Waacs," sent for service with the Americans at Tours, have been recalled. At one time service with the American army was regarded as more or less of a punishment, but now the girls seem to think they are undergoing another punishment by being recalled. Some fifty of the original detachment are now the brides of Americans and are either already in the states or on their way there.

Dancing and swearing are considered as transgressions, according to the following edict issued to the flock by the pastor: "From this time on any member guilty of immoral conduct—drinking any intoxicating liquor as a beverage, swearing, gambling, giving a dance, attending a dance, or dancing, or any other unbecoming conduct which may bring reproach upon the church—will be notified to appear before the church and make suitable acknowledgments, and in case of failure the church will then proceed to withdraw the hand of fellowship from him."

Misfortune to Visit King.

London, Oct. 9.—A British officer, newly arrived from the East, tells of his "misfortune" in being entertained by the king of the Hedjaz. The king and his court held a feast in his honor. Whole sheep were served, the carvers walking up and down on the middle of the table attending to the wants of the guests. When the hour for retiring came "musicians" were told off to sing the Englishman to sleep, and throughout the entire night sweet melody soothed his slumbers. The next morning he received an "urgent telegram" calling him away to the nearby camp. He left with all signs of reluctance, but once in the camp "hit the hay" for twenty-four hours of sleep.

A FOUR-MINUTE SPEECH.

By EDITOR J. R. WARD

of the Toilet Requisites, New York

Did you ever stop to think, when your world seems wrapped in fog and drizzle, when you slosh through the mud and murk over your shoes soles and your system seems saturated with dampness and gloom, that only a couple of miles away the good old sun is shining merrily, only waiting a chance to send his rays through the clouds and warm the cockles of your heart and make you forget you were anything else but warm and dry?

To be sure the two miles or so are straight up in the air, but I have found that it is a mighty comforting thing to reflect that no matter how dismal the world may appear just where I happen to be at the time, there is warmth and brightness so near at hand, and moreover, sure to be where I am when my turn comes.

Just now things seem a bit disorganized. On all sides we hear and read in the papers of labor disturbances, Bolshevik uprisings and social and industrial unrest that appear foreboding and menacing. Strikes, race riots and banditti in Mexico, to say nothing of the high cost of living, rumored coal shortage and rent piracy, all loom up to take the joy out of life and make us wish we were Esquimaux living in an igloo made of ice and subsisting off whale blubber and raw fish. Just as we thought we were safely out of the war, all these other distracting elements arise and pester and annoy and worry us.

When a fellow has eaten something that makes him sick, and his liver refuses to function, and his system becomes all clogged up, the doctor gives him medicine that sometimes turns his internals topsy turvy and makes him sicker than ever for the time being. But in the end when the nausea subsides and his head stops spinning, he gets well and forgets that he ever was sick.

I believe that this is just what is going on now. A few bad people like the kaiser and some others started a fermentation in the world that has upset pretty much everything in it. The world has been sick and is now suffering the throes of misery caused by the remedy. For a while all of us must groan and twist with the cramps and nausea, and then some glorious morning, before we realize it, maybe, we will awake to the fact that all's well with the world and God's still in His heaven.

Moral—Dont' Borrow the Paper.

A man who was too stingy to subscribe for the paper sent his little son to borrow the copy taken by a neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice the barb wire fence ran into that, cutting a hole in his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of trousers. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran out, upset a four gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a $35 set of false teeth. The baby having been left alone, crawled through the milk into the parlor, ruining a brand new $25 carpet. During the excitment the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off of four fine shirts on the clothes line. —Exchange.

Government Used Much Lumber.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A total consumption of nearly six and a half billion feet of lumber by the governmen during the war is shown in recen figures compiled by R. C. Bryant, Industrial Examiner of the United States Forest Service. Of this amount of lumber purchased directly by the various Government departments, the Army consumption was nearly five and a half billion feet; the navy more than 120,000,000 feet, and during 1918 the consumption by the Emergency Fleet Corporation was nearly eight hundred million feet. Of the army consumption, airplane construction took about 181,000,000 feet, more than half of which was spruce.

MtcLean, Isle of Mull, Scotland, had been but twice out of the State of Ohio, and had never slept away from home but once when visiting Cincinnati.

TEACHERS ARE ASKED TO AID IN JUNIOR RED CROSS WORK

Enrollment Campaign for the Children for the Southwestern Division Is Now In Progress

To all teachers of the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross. During the period October 8th to 15th, the Chapter School Committees in the Southwestern Division will carry on a campaign for the re-enlistment of the pupils in their respective jurisdictions in the Junior Red Cross. The hearty co-operation of the school officials with the Junior Red Cross in the past, and the very excellent appealing and practical Peace Time Program which has now been worked out, makes me feel quite confident that this campaign for Junior Membership will met an instant response on the part of the pupils in the schools of the Southwest.

"I am most anxious that all understand that the only way that the pupils through the Grade and High Schools can become members of the American Red Cross is through enrollment in Junior Red Cross auxiliaries under the auspices of the Chapter School committee."

(Signed) ALFRED FAIRBANK,
Manager

What the J. R. C. is planning to do:

1. To help some of the suffering children in foreign lands. The Junior Red Cross news will be sent monthly to all schools that enroll. This bulletin will show what is being done for these children.

2. To help suffering children at home

3. To work for good health and good citizenship.

The regular fee is 25 cents a year. This entitles the member to wear the Red Cross button and keeps him enrolled with thousands of other boys and girls in this organization.

Is Reappointed Pastor.

The question of a pastor for the Methodist church of Burlington Junction was definitely settled Thursday afternoon when Rev. Ernest Snider received a message from Bishop William A. Quayle assigning him to this field for another year.

At the annual conference in Maryville last month Rev. Snider was appointed to the Hamilton church and the Burlington Junction church was left to be supplied This arrangement was not satisfactory to either the congregation or the pastor. A request was made for Mr. Snider's return to this field, but nothing definite was done until last Thursday, when the bishop appointed a minister from the St. Louis conference to Hamilton and reappointed Mr. Snider to this church. —Burlington Junction Post.

OUR MISTAKE

The fourth paragraph in Montgomery-Cummins Clo., Co., in this paper yesterday read:

> Probably you can; but that isn't the point, you can get as much clothes value for your money anywhere else, that $5 or $10 is in the suit, etc.

It should have read:

He Is King of the Belgians, Not of Belgium, Who Is Visiting the U. S

By ROBERT J. PREW
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Editor's Note—As manager of the Paris bureau of the International News Service, Robert J. Prew had ample opportunity to study Belgium's king and the high regard in which he is held by his people. Mr. Prew has just returned to the United States and prepared this article because of the interest it will hold for every American in view of Albert's visit to this country.

New York, Oct. 7.—"King Albert—the perfect knight."

This succinct but comprehensive designation of the King of the Belgians was supplied to me after the German invasion of Belgium by Pierre Loti the French "immortal." It has since become historic.

The phrase, in fact, is a complete and accurate biography in itself, for it is his magnificent stand against Von Kluck in August 1914, his knightly solicitude for the honor of the gallant little country over which he reigned, which ranks Albert in history with Bayard, the chevalier without fear and without reproach.

That the king is a fine, upstanding man with a kindly smile, that he is possessed of indomitable courage; that he is a wise and shrewd ruler, are things belonging to the common stock of knowledge of Belgium's monarch, but Europe will always know him as the "world's perfect knight." Bernard Partridge's Punch cartoon is in this sense the same as Loti's phrase:

"So, sire, you have lost all," said the kaiser of 1914 ,tauntingly, to the daring young ruler.

"Yes, all save honor," was Albert's proud and crushing reply.

Neat brevity also characterized Loti's description when I asked him about Queen Elizabeth. "An ethereal vision in blue," said the academician. And everyone who has had the honor of meeting Albert's consort will agree that nothing could better sound the dominate note of the queen. Frail, slender and winsome, she has intensely blue eyes—the "true blue" of open frankness and endearment. Blue is also her favorite color, most of her gowns being blue.

The king has for long been looking forward eagerly to his American visit. It is no exaggeration to say that he knows more about the United States than any monarch of this or any other day. The country has always interested him intensely, and no American has called upon him in the past five years without leaving behind some extra grain of knowledge of American life and conditions which King Albert has stowed away in his well-ordered mind.

During the past summer a party of congressmen from half a dozen different state were presented to his majesty at the palace, and they left amazed at the manner in which the king was versed in American conditions. It was not the general knowledge of tourist or newspaper reader, but accurate, detailed information on the staple trades of each particular state which Albert was able to refer to in his talk with the astonished congressmen. He knew as much about the mules of Wyoming as about the orange groves of southern California or the hogs of Virgina.

Speed is the king's particular craze, and it would be surprising if he returned home from the United States without seeing at least some parts of the country from an aeroplane. When he flew to meet President Wilson on the French frontier last June he was all for having the president accompany him on an aerial tour of Holland.

"Automobiles are fast enough for me," the president said, with some emphasis.

"And yet there is nothing like the aeroplane," the king rejoined. "You get speed all the time and there are no obstructions. Also it is quite safe."

And as if to convince the president of the dangers of motoring, the party was hustled over the roads of Belgium at a breakneck pace. The hustle of the whole Belgian tour was inspired by the king's love of swife action. Whenever he has to travel any distance from Brussels he goes by air. He has several times journeyed in this way to London and Paris and back again to his capital. Often the queen goes with him, for shee, too, shares his love of rapid transit in the uncrowded air.

It is worthy of note that America's royal visitor is not the "King of Belgium", but the King of the Belgians. There is no king of Belgium. Albert inherits the title of his forebear, Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg, who in June, 1831, after the split with Holland, was elected "King of the Belgians" by the national congress sitting in Brussels. He is not the lord of the land, monarch of all he surveys, as, for instance, the king of England; he is the elected ruler of his people.

Unearths Indian Skeleton.

Deerfield, Mass., Oct. 9.—Skeletons of three indians have been unearthed on a farm here by Warren K. Moorehead curator of the department of archaeology of Philips Andover Academy. One skeleton was more than six feet tall, one of medium height, and the third was that of a boy about ten or twelve years old. The bodies must have been buried before the discovery of America, as they were not in a sitting position, as in the most recent Indian mounds. They were lying on their right sides facing east. Mr. Moorehead, who is a member of the Indian Commission in Washington, estimates the bodies as having been buried about 500 years ago.

Lawyer's Brand New Derby Swiped

New York, Oct. 9.—George L. Donellan, political leader and lawyer, put a brand new derby, valued at $10, on a bench assigned to witnesses for the defense in Special Sessions Court, where petty robberies and other minor criminal cases are heard. Ten minutes later, after Donnelan's spell-binding reasoning had convinced the court that the young man charged with picking pockets was not guilty, he looked for his hat. It was gone, but in its place reposed an old, delapidated cloth affair. "I would suggest that this honorable court put up a sign warning persons entering this room to beware of thieves," said Donnellan, with no little irony in his voice.

Mint Still Brings Record Price.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 9—Despite the passing of the delectable julep, St. Joseph County's mint crop is said to be the most profitable in the world. Farmers report that the crop here is worth $250 to $300 an acre, and Government figures show that the 3,425 acres under cultivation here was the largest plot in the world and that Indiana produces two-thirds of the mint in the United States. Some growers received as much as $6.25 a pound for the choicest mint.

Speeding Judge Is Arrested.

Wabash, Ind., Oct. 8.—Arrested for speeding, John H. Sayre, justice of the peace, had his case transferred to his own court, swore out an affidavit against himself, had his own constable serve the warrant and agreed to appear in court before himself. He said that when his case came to trial he would levy a fine of $10 and costs against himself and pay it himself. A part of the fine and costs paid by defendant Sayre would then revert to Justice Sayre, as he will collect a fee for hearing his own case. He admitted he believes in keeping the fines in his own family.

French Scientist Perfects a Fluid That Makes a Body Transparent

BY NORMAN WATSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 9.—A new invention, more remarkable in many ways than the X-ray, has just been perfected by a French scientist, Dr. Jules H. Stean.

The new discovery, which Doctor Stean calls the "X-ray fluid," is a liquid, the action of which reveals every detail in the structure of the organism on which it is brought to bear.

When an X-ray is turned on a living thing, or part of such, the bones only stand out in silhouette. When the same thing is submerged in the wonderful new fluid, veins, arteries, tissues and the smallest details stand out clearly.

The perfection of the fluid required seven years of unremitting work. The manner in which the germ of the idea was born is as romantic as the story of Watt and his steam engine.

Sitting one day at work in his laboratory, Dr. Stean suddenly noticed a drop of oil falling upon a piece of paper made the paper transparent. He asked him self the question: If a drop of oil renders paper transparent, might there not be some fluid which would penetrate other substances and make them transparent?

He set himself the task of finding a liquid with a high index of refraction to which a preservative and something that would check evaporation could be added

If he found it he would be able to make the human body, or any specimen of atomical study as transparent as he desired. The principle being not to force artificial light through a substance, but by means of the fluid make it pervious to natural light. Doctor Stean's labors eventually were crowned with success.

Writing about his discovery, he says: "The discovery of the X-rays and their action made it possible to examine the bones of living persons for study in medical science. But for the pathological laboratory and the study of dead body parts, the X-rays are not much use, because the finer details are either lost or made flat and uninteresting. The pathologist needed a preparation with which he could study from all sides and from every point of view.

"It was therefore my endeavor to find a means to study the bone parts—the muscular system and the bone structure.

"I found it in my X-ray solution—a fluid which, like the X-rays, penetrates the outer skin and the flesh, but shows not only the bone structure, but the finer muscular system."

The degree of transparency obtained by the action of the fluid can be regulated by the operator. It is said a board can be made as clear as glass so that a newspaper may be read through it.

In the case of rare and valuable specimens the advantages of the Stean process are obvious, because the specimens can at the same time be preserved and examined.

Brother of Gabriele d'Annuazio Tells Vision of Fiume's Dictator

New York, Oct. 9.—As a boy of 12, Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet who is writing the name of his country, Fiume and himself large in history, had a vision; he saw himself as a great man, a leader, renowned beyond his fondest hopes.

Events are soon to prove whether the hazy dream the childish mind conjured up is to come true, but Anthonio d'Annunzio, only brother of the man who is holding Dalmatia's most important town in defiance of the powers of the whole world, believes they are. Anthonio is living in Brooklyn and teaches music. Unless his brother's character has changed since last they met, Anthonio says, Fiume will become Italian territory and Gabriele d'Annunzio will be the greatest man in Italy.

"As a little tot only twelve years old Gabriele thought he was a big, big man," mused the brother. "He always said he would one day become a great man. He had a vision in which he was pictured as a person of power with tremendous influence over men. Gabriele was always, as he is now, determined and relentless in his convictions. Once he made up his mind to do a thing it was always accomplished. And he was quick, even as a child, in reaching determinations.

"One time Gabriele went down to Naples to say goodbye to a friend who was leaving for Egypt. The friend, just as the steamer was to leave her dock, said: 'Come along,' and Gabriele looked up quickly and answered 'Yes.' He had no clothing, he was breaking plans and arrangements, but it suited his whim and he went.

"When he determined to do anything there was nothing in the world that could stop him. He would carry his idea through every trial to the bitter end. The spirit he is now showing in Fiume is none other than the one which he had in childhood.

"Even then he was a patriot and even then he showed those traits which later made his life a universally known story. Of course, he did not exactly show his love for sensations then, but he was a tremendous profligate. He got money fast and he threw it away.

"Fiume will be Italian and Gabriele will not be touched. What will come then I do not know. I am sure Gabriele will be uninjured, but I am afraid for his health.

"We were very close when we were young. Here in my desk are letters from him — beautiful, passionate letters—and here are telegrams.

"One night I awoke in the dark to hear my bell ring. Going to the door I found a telegram from Gabriele with only these words: "I long to see you.' When my mother was lying sick unto death in Pascara in 1917 I cabled to my brother, asking him to kiss mother for me. Then he cabled back: 'I have kissed the madonna for you. Be courageous. As I write to you I embrace you'."

Mr. d'Annunzio explained that he and his brother parted when they left school at Toscani, near Florence, while his brother went to the Santa Cecilia conservatory in Rome to study music. After that the two brothers did not have much personal contact except through the family living in Pascara.

Paints Hogs, Cattle and Horses to Take to International Show

You may not think that there is much artistic inspiration in a hog or a cow or a horse, but Charles R. Hall of Seatle, Wash., who has now a studio at Clearmont, this county, begs to differ with you, especially if the animals have pedigrees behind them and blue ribbons from the shows. Indeed, he thinks so much of the work that he is making live stock painting his life pursuit. His greatest ambition at present is to finish a series of a thousand paintings of blue ribbon animals, which he is making in company with his brothers, both artists, and which he will send to Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America, after touring the United States. At Buenos Aires next year he will exhibit his gallery at the International Live Stock Exposition.

Mr. Hall, who was born near Blanchard, Iowa, spent much of his early life in the vicinity of Clearmont and Elmo, and therefore is well acquainted with the country in which he is now working. Although he has been painting off and on all his life, he first won fame in the nineties as a bicycle racer. For a time he was world's champion, taking the honor in a race in Berlin, Germany. His brothers, D. J. and Virgil, also raced with him.

In 1898, hearing the announcement of the St. Louis exposition, the brothers at once gave up bicycle racing and set to work secretly to make a series of eight hundred paintings of western scenery. At this time they made their home in Seattle, and it was in the interest of Seattle that they exhibited their paintings at the St. Louis exposition in 1903. These pictures gained them a wide fame.

Mr. Hall says there is more money in painting scenery than in painting live stock, but he saw a need of his brush in a much neglected field and now is devoting himself to the task of painting the American champions, male and female, in hogs, cattle and horses. He finds that his experience in painting scenery helps him with this work, as he can always make the background interesting as well as the animal, and he can supply a suitable or attractive background when the location of the animal provides none. He says western scenery is popular, and the samples he carries with him show mountains and pine woods in the rear of Mississippi Valley animals. It is all in the interest of art, he says.

For C. D. and E. F. Caldwell of Burlington Junction, Polled Angus breeders, Mr. Hall has painted Black Cap Bertram, their $45,000 animal, and Epistos, grand champion at the International at Chicago in 1917. He is painting animals also belonging to F. C. Barber & Son of Skidmore and to E. Ogden & Son of Maryville.

Some Nodaway county scenery is acceptable for his pictures, Mr. Hall says, and in others he has to provide the background. It all depends on the way the farm lies.

All of Mr. Hall's painting is done in oil. His hog canvasses generally are 20 by 30 inches; his cattle canvasses, 30 by 40, and larger groups, 4 feet by 6 feet. He has spent two years on his present work and expects to be at work next year, too. There are 434 champions in hogs alone, he says.

Mr. Hall, who is nearly 50 years old, has been three times around the world and up in the Arctic Circle. He will go to Seattle soon, but will return to his Clearmont studio later to finish his work in this vicinity.

EXPERTS OF U. S. DEPARTMENT IN FAVOR OF PUREBRED SIRES

High Grade Hog Makes Greater Gain On Same Amount of Food Consumed by Scrub Animal

Washington, Oct. 8.—The definition of the term "purebred sires" is written in one word—"economy." There are many definitions, many of them learned and long, that might be written, but the breeding experts of the United States department of agriculture, when they met here to launch the state and national crusade for "Better Sires—Better Stock", agreed that the primary meaning of it is economy.

The scrub hog requires a certain number of bushels of corn to make 200 pounds of pork. The purebred or high grade hog takes the same number of bushels of corn to make 300 pounds of pork. The purebred or high grade cow makes three gallons of milk out of the same quantity of silage that the scrub cow uses to make a gallon and a half of milk. These figures are not meant to be scientifically exact, of course, but merely to illustrate the principle. The result is that the farmer gets more pounds of salable product out of his feed when he uses purebred sires at the head of his herds and flocks. He gets more money and his family lives better. But something else happens. When he sells more pounds of a better class of meat or more gallons of rich milk, he feeds the city family better than he did when he kept scrub stock. The final result of the purebred sires is that the farmer makes more money and the city family gets more and better food, probably at lower prices.

The crusade, the experts say, eventually will tend to result in reducing the cost of living to the consumer without taking the difference out of the pocket of the producer. For that reason, they point out, the city man has a definite, money interest in the better sires crusade. While he can hardly be expected to put the same amount of effort into it that the live stock breeder should, he is expected to give encouragement and aid to the program whenever the opportunity offers. And there will be no lack of opportunity particularly in the smaller cities and towns where the farmers are in close contact with the city business men.

EXCESS WOMEN IN ENGLAND MAY BE SENT TO COLONIES

At Least 1,500,000 Have No Chance of Getting Married Otherwise; No Place In Industry

London, Sept. 29 (by mail).—England may transfer en masse her excess of womanhood to the colonies. There are at least 1,500,000 women and girls in the British Isles who have no chance of getting married because of the lack of men, while at the same time there is difficulty in absorbing them into industry, now that the army has been demobilized.

Hundreds of thousands of these women have become semi-skilled workers during the war, so if conditions are any way near reasonable they could make a living in the colonies, where labor is less plentiful.

Hence, conditions are being investigated in Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Women delegates have been sent out to those lands to find out about the labor market, and how Britain's excess woman power can be transplanted. All phases of the labor situation in those dominions will be canvassed — the professional, industrial and domestic service.

No women will be allowed to go out to the dominions unless they are really wanted and will be welcomed. What Canada wants of husbandless Brittannia she may have, provided protection and treatment are satisfactory.

Western Australia seeks to help herself and the motherland in one action by re-settling 36,000 ex-British soldiers and their families in undeveloped sections of Australia. Twelve thousand such families will be taken out annually for the next three years if the British government agrees to advance them loans on conditions similar to those Australia is providing for her native sons.

Police There Next Day.

San Francisco, Oct. 8. — Police of metropolitan cities may be rather speedy when burglar alarms are sounded, but a Sacramento, Calif., man expected too much. He asked the phone operator for police headquarters. She was a long distance operator, and gave him the station here in San Francisco—some 200 miles from where he was phoning. And when the police informed him they'd come up the next day, if necessary, he grew rather indignant—until he found he had the wrong city.

YOUR CATARRH MAY LEAD TO CONSUMPTION

Dangerous to Use Treatment for Only Temporary Relief.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source. Get a bottle today, begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. For free medical advice write Medical Director, 47 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

OPPORTUNITY SCHOOLS TO AID MOUNTAINEERS OF MISSOURI

Work In McDonald County Will Be Similar to That Done In Kentucky Moonlight Teaching

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 8. — Twelve Ozark opportunity schools are soon to be opened for the illiterate people of McDonald county. C. H. Williams of the University of Missouri recently returned from a trip to McDonald county, where he made arrangements for the opportunity schools. County superintendents will conduct these schools during the fall months. If they succeed they will probably be continued through the winter. The university will furnish the lesson leaflets, and the regular teachers in the rural schools will conduct the classes.

The county will be divided into twelve community centers and each center will have a school. Only grammar school work will be given. The opportunity schools will be similar to the moonlight schools of the mountains of Kentucky. The schools are not only for those who wish to learn letters and figures, but also for those who have learned the first principles and desire to improve themselves.

Pastor Plans Service to Fans.

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 8.—Instead of antagonizing Sunday baseball, the Rev. Martin G. Snively, pastor of the Masontown Brethren church, sees the opportunity of having the fans gather to listen to a sermon. The minister has approached the men who have charge of the Sunday games in Masontown with the request that after four and a half innings are played the game be stopped to allow him to talk for about twenty minutes, after which the game can be finished. The promotors of the sport will probably grant the clergyman's request.

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did." —Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

Important New Ruling on Road Aid Puts Surveying Cost on Counties

Jefferson City Oct. 10.—John M. Malang, state highway superintendent, is sending out a bulletin to all road officials and enthusiasts in the state in regard to a very important ruling just made by the federal bureau of public roads. The solicitor general for the bureau has rendered an opinion that the federal government because of a lack of available funds, cannot pay any portion of the survey, plans and specifications of a project prior to the signing of the agreement for federal aid on a road, which means that the counties will have to pay for the cost of surveying not less than fifty miles of road authorized by the new law in each county or get $100 a mile less on the $1,200 a mile each county is to receive free.

That portion of the bulletin of vita importance to all counties and road districts in the state is as follows:

"It was generally understood from information received from the bureau of public roads and the reading of the federal law, that the government required ten per cent of the project se aside to take care of engineering and unforeseen contingencies. The federal law provides 'items included for engineering, inspection and unforeseen contingencies shall not exceed ten per centum of the total estimate cost of the work,' and from that it was understood that engineering was covered from the inception of the project to the finish. However, the ruling of the solicitor for the bureau of public roads has made it mandatory on our part to change our policy for the reason that our law provides that there shall be $1,200 a mile, including cost of survey, allotted to each county in the state on state roads, and a minimum of fifty miles or road to each county or its equivalent.

"Our law further provides that one-half of such $1,200 per mile shall come from the state fund and one-half from the federal fund. If the federal government will not participate in the cost portion of the original survey, plans and specifications and pay their portion thereof, it necessarily follows that the state highway department, if it pays for the original survey, plans and specifications, will have to cut the amount of money allowed to each county per mile, because the department, if it pays, will not have the money available to do that and have $600 per mile to match $600 of federal government money.

"The board at its meeting held in Jefferson City, September 30, ordered that where the counties would pay for the original survey, plans and specifications, they would be able to put the $1,200 per mile, without cost to the county, on the construction of the road, subject to the ruling of the bureau of public roads. Where they refuse to pay for the original survey, plans and specifications, the state highway department would be compelled, under the law, to cut the amount allotted to each county to $100 for the survey and $1,000 for construction, for the reason that, after the state highway department paid for the survey they would have but $500 per mile to match federal money with, and by reason of that they would be compelled to cut the amount allotted to the various counties to the cost of survey and $1,000 a mile for construction, inspection and unforeseen contingencies."

British Find That Informers Are Very Few in Ireland at Present

By D. O'CONNELL
Special Correspondent International News Service

Cork, Oct. 10.—In the good old days of the land agitation in Ireland it was always the proud boast of Dublin Castle that their police agents and informers were at the head of affairs in the league. Today the secret agents are beaten all along the line in getting information. Time after time men have been wounded in raids, but though it must be known to scores of people where the men are in hiding the police have never been able to trace them.

After the Easter week rebellion some of the principal characters escaped through the city, but they had to remain in hiding here for weeks. They were helped by poor men to whom a five pound note would mean a fortune. Even the authorities were prepared to offer $20,000 for their round-up, not a single one was betrayed.

The walls of the police barracks here are covered with bills offering princely rewards for secret information which would lead to the arrest of certain men. Free farms and passage to the colonies are offered in addition, but not one of "the big money men" has been landed in the meshes of the law.

Military intimidation in County Clare has failed to get out a glimpse of information as to the men implicated in the big raids here. In County Tipperary, when an offer of $5,000 failed to get anything from the grown-ups, the police thought they had got wise and arrested a boy named O'Conner, aged eleven. They jailed him and put him through the third degree, but they had to release him after a month.

The plain clothes men are everywhere, and everyone is suspected, but the difficulty is they can't arrest the whole of Ireland. They tried that in 1917 and packed up the prisons, but the jails got so full that those inside were giving more trouble than the outsiders, so they fired the whole lot out.

Some time ago an English journalist whose loyalty to his country was above reproach, complained to me that his movements were being watched.

The story seemed absurd, but he told me to watch the door of the dining room in the hotel and, sure enough, a well know detective kept dodging across the hall watching us eat. My friend told me that ever since his arrival in Ireland he had been shadowed. He worked on a great London daily of unquestionable loyalty, but for all that Dublin Castle kept its eye on him.

Failure to Die Worries Him.

Bellaire, O., Oct. 9.—Failure of Santa Bardonne to die, as physicians had scheduled, is causing a local monument dealer lots of worry. Bardonne could not live more than a few days, the learned doctors said. So the sick man made all arrangements for his funeral and ordered an expensive monument to be paid for thirty days after death." Bardonne did not die. In fact, he picked up immediately after giving the monument order. He says he will keep the monument builder to the contract.

Parrot Buried With Veteran.

Sawtelle, Cal., Oct. 9.—In obedience to the last request of Philander D. Freeman, Civil War veteran, who died at his home here, the stuffed skin of his pet parrot was placed in the casket with his body at the funeral. Freeman's parrot died in 1912. The veteran had the skin stuffed and placed in a glass cage on which was inscribed the name "Polly Freeman."

Three Names in One Day.

Lancaster, O., Oct. 9.—Three different names in less than a day's time. This is the experience of a Lancaster girl. In the morning her name was Miss. Joseph Hanna. The court, just before noon, returned her name to Miss Blanche Wright and in the afternoon she became Mrs. Norbet Getz

Peacock Rids Farm of Snakes.

Larnwst, Wales, Oct. 9.—A snake-killing peacock of deadly accuracy has rid a farm near here of bothersome pests. When it arrived at the farm and was uncrated it pounced upon a four-foot snake and in a half hour had killed seventeen reptiles.

Puts Blame on Satan and Good Roads

Tiltonville, O., Oct. 9.—Satan and good roads are blamed for keeping down church attendance on Sunday by Rev. H. L. Ward, a local pastor. "I will thank the Lord when roads become so bad that Sunday auto touring will no longer be a pleasure," he said to his congregation.

Wife Rebelled Against Shining Shoes.

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 9.—Dominick Desmond, mechanic, has some idea as to what a wife is for. He believes, besides mending his socks, cooking his meals, doing his laundry and caring for two babies, his wife should shine his shoes. "A man marries a woman to have her wait on him," says Dominick. But Mrs. Dominick rebelled. Mrs. Dominick was severely beaten. Dominick was arrested, however, and fined $15.

Unearths a Mackerel Mine.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 9.—A mackerel mine was unearthed here the other day, but it proved to be a "salted" vein. Leveling off a newly purchased suburban lot, Otto Reese came upon eight pails of the salt fish, apparently in good condition despite long interment. It is believed freight car bandits planted the fish and forgot where the mackerel was cached.

Liquor Dealers Renew Licenses.

New York, Oct. 9.—If the liquor license bureau here may be taken as a barometer, New York is going to be one very wet dry little town, either despite or because of prohibition. Liquor dealers are simply swamping the place with requests for renewals or brand new licenses. Thousands have been issued in every borough of the city.

PLANS FOR DRIVE BEGUN

Reasons for Maintaining Organization at Present High Efficiency Are Given.

Plans for the nation-wide Red Cross campaign, opening Monday, November 3 and closing Armistice Day, November 11, are being begun in every city, town and county by Red Cross workers. The primary object of the campaign, which will be known as the Third Red Cross Roll Call, will be to enroll members for 1920. Twenty million members will be sought throughout the country, and in the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross, comprising the states of Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, the quota has been set at 2,000,000 members.

It is the consensus of opinion that the coming drive is the most important ever undertaken by the Red Cross, inasmuch as the results will determine to a large extent the possibilities of future Red Cross endeavors.

Is there an unspoken question in your mind as to why the Red Cross is conducting a drive? If so, perhaps the following brief outline will answer your query.

The Red Cross, first of all, must take care of the wounded and disabled soldiers in the hospitals. Thousands of men are still in the hospitals, abroad in the Army of occupation, in the camps awaiting discharge and in service on the border. The Red Cross must continue to care for these men until the last man is home.

The safety of many hinges on the checking of disease and Bolshevism abroad. The Red Cross must complete its obligations to foreign countries. Red Cross relief commissions have won their way into the hearts of these suffering peoples and have at hand the means for the solution of their problems.

The Red Cross must answer the call of the American people. The toll of the influenza epidemic, the health conditions revealed by the draft, alarming statistics concerning infant mortality, have added to the growing realization that public welfare depends on public health. The American people are becoming aroused to the urgent need of health knowledge. They have realized the value of Red Cross Home Service for its activities have reached communities where no other social agency is at work. They are learning to appreciate that the future of America depends on the training for citizenship of the coming generations. America is turning to the Red Cross for help in solving these community problems.

One of the best reasons for the maintenance of the Red Cross at its present high state of reorganization and efficiency is to be found in the prompt relief measures taken during the recent storms that swept the Texas coast.

The Red Cross, one of whose objects is to minimize suffering after just such a disaster, had machinery in readiness that was put into instant operation. Those left dependent by injury and death were not compelled to rely upon a haphazard improvised organization to collect funds and distribute inefficiently and wastefully the means of relief. On the first receipt of the news of the disaster, relief trains were made up at Laredo and San Antonio, Tex., trained disaster relief officials left St. Louis to take charge of the disbursement of supplies, while at Galveston a government vessel was hurriedly impressed into service to carry relief supplies.

Bride Wasn't Nimble.

London, Oct. 9.—"She's not so nimble as she used to be," was the apology of a bridegroom as someone helped his bride up the steps of the Lichfield registry office. Then he had to be helped up. For he was a blind peddler of fifty and the blushing bride was eighty.

Leaves Country Town Class.

Burlington Junction left th ecountry town class on Monday and became a member of the fraternity of small cities. On Monday afternoon the first street paving was laid here.

Work is now progressing at a rapid rate on the business streets, and with good weather three weeks will see the work about completed.

The workmen are able to lay daily a large amount of concrete, with the aid of the large concrete mixer, which not only does away with the back-breaking work of mixing the cement, sand, etc., but deposits the concrete on the streets as well.

Almost all of the curbing is in and the work of grading the street has been about completed. Burlington Junction's main street now presents the appearance of a principal street in a small city—as indeed it is.—Burlington Junction Post.

Wife Gives Hubby Spanking.

Kansas City, Kan., Oct. 8. — When crowds on the way home from the theatres the other night saw a woman chasing down Grand avenue, north from Twelfth street, they stayed "for the rest of the show." They gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Baker. The receiver of the spanking said the trouble was the result of "an agreement to disagree."
